

Old Sawmill Campsite –

For many years Old Sawmill (in a previous location) was a favorite of Boy Scout groups and individuals wanting a site a couple miles in for a first night place to stay. The previous site was a large site that had grown larger with use over the years, and had become quite bare and compacted. The only way for the original site to get some leaf cover/restoration was close it and move the location. So on June 21, 2014 the site was relocated. The new site area is less than half the size of the original site and now has two designated fire rings and the site will only hold about 7-8 tents (or some 15-18 backpackers.)

Most people hike in to this site area west from the WJSP-TV tower parking lot trailhead (about 2.7 miles.)

The hike in to Old Sawmill is one of the most scenic, with lots of hiking over water crossings and hills, past cliffs and waterfalls including Cascade Falls. An alternate route is hiking in from the west, and it is about 2.3 miles east of Rocky Point Parking Lot trailhead. The site has the best water source along the trails, this, being a good sized stream alongside the trail on the edge of the camp. The name Old Sawmill, comes from fact there was sawmill located in the woods nearby the campsite about 80+ years ago.

The best access point to the stream is noted with a sign, just 75 feet east past the entrance to the camp.

There are two fire rings at the camp, thus if you choose this camp you may be sharing the camp with another individual, couple or small group of 5 or less. Scout and other groups of more than 6 will be permitted the whole site.

Fire Ring A

Fire Ring B

Right west of the entrance to Old Sawmill Campsite is FERNEY the BIG pine tree, 14.5' around at 4' off the ground

Is said to be about 250 years old.

